review elever necklist

First Impression

Is the resume inviting to read, with clear sections?

Does the resume look and feel professional rather than simple?

Appearance

Is the font si e appropriate for eas reading?

Are there design elements (bullets, bolding, and lines) to guide readers' e es through the document and highlight important content?

Is there a good balance between te t and white space?

Are margins even on all sides?

Is spacing and font si e used in a consistent format throughout the document?

If the resume is longer than a page, is the second page useful?

Resume sections

Are all resume sections clearl labeled?

Is contact information included and accurate?

Is the work histor listed in reverse chronological order (most recent job rst)?

Career goal

Is the resume targeted to a speciec career goal, rather than a one-sie-ts-all document?

If this is a resume for a career change, does it include supporting details that show how e perience is relevant to the new job?

Relevance

Does the resume's content support the summar statement?

Are there ke words and industr acron ms showing knowledge of the career eld?

If applicable, is additional information (awards and a liations) included?

Is personal information unrelated to the job (marital status, age, nationalit ) omitted?

Does the resume trigger big questions such as wh a 7- ear emplo ment gap? Or wh frequent job changes? If so, can the answers be worked into the resume?

Writing style

Is the content ow logical and eas to understand?

Does the resume include robust, varied action verbs?

Have ou avoided mismatched verbs (use similar endings ordering, planning, and recording)

Is the resume as perfect as possible, with no careless errors or t pos?

montcalm.edu/career-services